The EgyptAir Flight & Vietnam Embargo Lifted

This one is going out to Bonnie Branch Middle School in Howard County, MD

Hey, it's Flocab at the end of May,
The last week in rap before Memorial Day.
OK, EgyptAir's up first,
A plane crashed, and the sea is where they've started to search
'Cause they still don't know where it is,
But some say the cause may have been terrorists.
And meanwhile, in Vietnam,
Obama took a trip there — here's what's going on:
He lifted the ban on the sale of
Military weapons; guess we're in a new era!
And props to the Portuguese.
For them, going green has literally been a breeze.
They ran their country for 107 hours
On solar, hydro and wind power.
Now, we're in Venezuela,
Where their sugar production has turned into a failure.
So Coke had to stop making cola in the country
'Cause of food shortages and not enough money.
But let me break news from Pakistan,
A US drone killed the leader of the Taliban
The Afghan, Mullah Mansour.
No, we won't be hearing from him anymore.
And meanwhile, from sea to sea,
Fish are in decline, but cephalopods have increased.
It could be for reasons like overfishing
Or because the temperatures of the oceans have risen.
Listen, before we leave, let's have a snack.
The FDA's got a new way that they'll get packed
With an updated label that reflects
The way Americans eat today, yes yes!

It's Flocabulary, y'all know what's next,
We'll hit you with the outro, and then we've got to step.
